President Gives NRA Proposals For Near Future

Skeletonized NRA Will Exist Pending Devolving Of New System

REVITALIZING IS ULTIMATE HOPE

Government Contracts To Favor Those Continuing Code Provisions

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 5.—A pale and emaciated NRA is all that remains of the lusty experiment begun two years ago.

The Blue Eagle still lives, but it is an earth-bound chicken that cannot fly. Its wings clipped by the supreme court decision outlawing the codes, it is left with neither teeth nor claws.

Reluctantly, President Roosevelt decided against any effort to revitalize the NRA—for the time being.

Eventually he hopes to do so, if a satisfactory way can be found to get around the supreme court's objections to the existing set-up. But for the present he has decided to maintain a skeleton organization, whose principal function will be statistical. It will collate the vast amount of information concerning business and industry compiled during the two hectic years when NRA was a driving factor to be reckoned with in our national industrial life. It will keep an eye on and study the effect on industry of abolishing the codes. And that is about all.

Eliminate Codes

A resolution to extend the National Recovery Act until next April 1—but with all reference to codes and code-making eliminated—will be pushed through congress before June 16, when the existing act expires automatically.

This solution of the tangle over NRA, reached after innumerable conferences with legislative and industrial leaders, is frankly a stop-gap measure. It is designed to preserve the skeleton of NRA for a nine-month period while Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers search for some means of clothing it again. No way could be found in the short time remaining before June 16, and they simply took the best way out of the situation short of killing the Blue Eagle outright.

Codes On Voluntary Basis

If the codes continue—and it is believed many of them will—it will be on a purely voluntary basis, with all government coercion removed. There will be no more "cracking

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Maybe you don't remember it, but a year ago yesterday, the mercury hit 98, one of the hottest days of the summer season. It was 96 on the two succeeding days, and with a drought existing at that time, vegetation literally burned up.

Despite the fact that some hundreds of autos were parked on streets surrounding the cathedral during the high school commencement last night, parking space on downtown streets seemed to be just as much at a premium as ever.

State highway department employes are giving some of the rough spots on South Jefferson street near the public square a coating of amesite. It is making quite an improvement.

Laval Having Difficulty In Cabinet Move

Former Premier Seeking To Form New French Cabinet

SEEKS TO SAVE FRENCH FINANCE

(International News Service)

PARIS, June 5.—Five hours after he reluctantly agreed to attempt to form a new cabinet, former Premier Pierre Laval today issued a communique stating he was "encountering difficulties."

Paris, June 5.—Drafted by President Albert Lebrun after two others had refused, Pierre Laval, former premier, reluctantly turned away from the foreign ministry today to try and weld an emergency government to save France from economic and financial chaos.

Laval immediately started conferring with parliamentary and party leaders, rushing his task as the slipping franc sped faster on the down-grade.

The dollar closed officially at 15.18 and the pound at 75.15.

Government rentes dropped an average of two francs, 50 centimes, but the bourse otherwise was quiet. The procureur of the republic—French district attorney—instructed police to exercise extremely strict surveillance of the stock and foreign exchange markets, and to report to him immediately any speculation against the franc.

Unofficial rates for the American dollar, following the collapse of the five-day-old "defense" cabinet, ran up to 15.19 francs, compared to the official quotation of 15.18 francs. British pounds sterling were unofficially quoted at 75.30, compared to 75.10.

COL. LINDBERGH RETIRES FROM AIR LINE WORK

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., June 5—Reports Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has retired from active connection with Trancontinental and Western Air were confirmed today by Henry B. DuPont, TWA board chairman.

Denying there had been a difference between the board and Lindbergh, DuPont said the flier severed his four-year connection with the airline because of "personal affairs and a desire on his part to be away from New York a great deal."

Roosevelt Wants Wagner Bill And Guffey Coal Bill

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Congress today had emphatic orders from President Roosevelt to pass the Wagner labor disputes and the Guffey coal control bill before adjournment.

The president informed congressional leaders that he fears a wave of strikes so serious that he might be forced to call out troops unless steps are taken to insure industrial peace.

Despite the insistence of Mr. Roosevelt, however, it appeared possible that the Wagner bill may be amended in the house to meet at least part of the widespread complaint by industrialists.

The chief amendment proposed is to make it unlawful for the American Federation of Labor or other labor unions, including Communist unions, to coerce workers to join their ranks.

Under the bill as written, employers are prohibited from dominating company unions, or from coercing workers into either joining a company union or refraining from joining a labor union.

Mr. Roosevelt was informed there is widespread demand in congress that the same law be applied to both employers and workers. The proposed amendment is vigorously opposed by Secretary of Labor Perkins.

Governor Denies Clemency Plea For Boston Trio

(International News Service)

BOSTON, June 5.—Last hope of saving Murton and Irving Millen and Abe Faber, Needham bank hold-up machine gun killers, from the electric chair faded this afternoon.

Governor James M. Curley denied a final plea for clemency made for their son by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Faber, who departed broken-hearted from the state house, and rejected a request for a stay of execution made by William R. Charton, attorney for Faber.

"I have decided to allow the law to take its course," the governor said.

Perfect School Records, Scholarship Help Bring Distinction To Seniors

When Miss Dorothy Conner and Alan Chamberlain received their diplomas at the senior high school graduation exercises last night, an 11-year record of perfect school attendance for both of them came to a close.

Miss Edith Deep and Miss Cecelia Chemerda probably got a thrill, too, because commencement found them with a 10-year perfect attendance mark to boast of. Howard McEwen could also boast that for nine consecutive years he had never been absent nor tardy.

Miss Conner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Conner, 1007 Williams street, while Chamberlain is the son of A. T. Chamberlain, Sumner avenue. Miss Conner was enrolled in the academic course, Chamberlain in the technical.

Principal F. L. Orth, in announcing the records, said that no 12-year records could be claimed by any senior. However, he pointed out that "the records of the five were mighty good".

Scholarships Presented.

Principal Orth also announced late yesterday the scholarship awards that have come to the seniors who made high ratings in their high school work. Elsewhere are listed the "honor group" of the class.

William Barbarowicz, heading the "honor group" list, has been awarded

Northwest Gang Being Hunted For Lad's Kidnaping

Believe Gang In Tacoma Region Took Part In $200,000 Ransom Case

REPORT RANSOM BILL IS PASSED

Search Turns To Huntington, Ore., As Result Of Latest Report

By HAROLD HEROUX
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)

TACOMA, Wash., June 5.—The Weyerhaeuser kidnaping plot was born in the "brains" of a Pacific northwest gang—its membership consisted of ex-bootleggers, ex-convicts and ex-bunco men.

This revelation startled quiet Tacoma today as peace officers of the Pacific northwest started to draw their net around the group of suspects.

Arrests Near.

While there have been no arrests yet, it was said from five to eight men may find themselves behind bars within the next 48 hours.

Police officers at Portland were hunting for a "pot-bellied" suspect. A previous report the man, an ex-bootlegger, was already in secret custody, met a flat denial.

Another thrilling episode in this baffling case came when word was flashed here yesterday that "the ransom has been turned loose." A Union Pacific station agent at Huntington, Ore., reported that a $20 ransom note L-12129816A was presented Sunday night by a man in a tan colored suit in purchasing a ticket for Salt Lake City.

Investigate Note.

The man left on a train from Huntington at 10:10 p. m. Sunday and, if he remained on the train, reached Salt Lake City at 12:20 p. m. Monday—24 hours before the note was recognized as part of the ransom money.

Three G-men were rushed to Huntington to investigate while agents at Salt Lake City also started work on this angle.

This was the second time that the eastern Oregon territory became a scene in the manhunt. Over the past week-end just a few hours after

Electric Workers Strike At Toledo

Four Hundred Thousand Residents Of District May Be Affected

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., June 5.—Disrupting industry and lighting systems along an 800-mile front and affecting a population of approximately 400,000 persons, union employes of the Toledo Edison Co., here today walked out on strike.

The actual walkout, which practically paralyzes industry in Northwestern Ohio and several Indiana and Michigan cities and towns along the Ohio border line, occurred at 7 o'clock.

The strike was called shortly after a conference of union electrical workers, leaders and company management broke up early this morning, apparently hopelessly deadlocked. Picket lines were thrown around the Edison Co.'s five plants here immediately.

In announcing the strike, Oliver S. Myers, business agent for the union said:

"They refused to give us even a five per cent increase in wages and to arbitrate the difference above that." The union is demanding a 20 per cent increase in wages.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 5.—Looks to me like Washington always asks the wrong man when they want to know something.

Today they called in all the big Democratic leaders to see what they "think" can be done. Well, why didn't they just quietly ask the supreme court what "could" be done?

Now if nothing can't be done under the present constitution, why they better just forget it, for I bet you a span of old gray mules that you ain't going to get folks to change that constitution.

That's like asking an old man to change the brand of his chewing tobacco.

Will Rogers

Huge Winnings Are Reported On Epsom Downs

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 5.—Wild with joy, Albert Trethway and Louis Houser, both unemployed, today split a $105,000 purse when Bahram finished first at Epsom Downs.

The two had sold a half share of their sweepstakes ticket on the winning horse for $30,000 and collected $75,000 on the remainder. Only two weeks ago Trethway had applied for relief aid.

Philadelphia, June 5.—Mrs. Gertrude Hocken, a nurse of Nanticoke, Pa., and Miss Agnes Kilkenny of this city, today danced in excitement as Bahram came home the winner of the Epsom Downs derby, enriching them and a third party to their sweepstakes ticket by $147,000.

Mrs. Hocken, the original purchaser of the ticket, sold equal shares in it to John Kilkenny, 44-year-old operator of Asbury House, a convalescent home in the Oak Lane section of the city, and the latter's sister, Agnes.

Senate Committee Votes To Report Sunday Movie Bill

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 5.—Acting with all possible speed, the senate state government committee today voted to report the house-approved bill legalizing Sunday movies to the senate floor for action.

By agreement in committee, the measure will be given two readings and recommitted for a public hearing next Tuesday night in the senate chamber.

This strategy places the bill in position where it can be passed finally by the senate in one day after being returned to the floor following the hearing.

Proponents of the "blue law" liberalization hailed the committee's action as insuring that the bill will reach a vote in the upper chamber but they admitted frankly the senate roll call would be "close".

LARGEST HIGH SCHOOL CLASS IS GRADUATED ON TUESDAY EVENING

Cathedral Is Crowded For Exercises Of June Class Of 1935

DR. J. K. POLLOCK MAKES ADDRESS

Awards Are Made To Members Of Graduating Class During Program

Posing the present day political, economic and social problems before them, Dr. James K. Pollock, professor of political science at the University of Michigan, challenged Senior high school's largest graduating class—361 members—last night to right first of all "a government out of gear" and to make government "simplified and understandable to gum-chewing voters" and to make sure it meets the needs of the fourth decade of the 20th century.

One of the Cathedral's largest crowds, one that packed the huge hall to capacity, listened as Dr. Pollock declared:

"For many, many years we have worshipped a barren constitutionalism and maintained some government institutions which have become obsolete. If any one proposes something new, some change in our political apparatus, like has been done in other fields of endeavor, many will say, 'Ah, he's a dangerous man.'"

New Castle Native.

The speaker, a native son of New Castle, told the audience of revisions in industry to meet the passing years and then, casting attention on government, asserted that "if such a large democracy as ours is going to function it must be understandable to the average citizen although before it has been understandable only to the boss."

Dr. Pollock blamed our political machinery of the past for creating the "boss" of our cities, explaining that in the past government has been too complex for the average citizen to understand and it easily fell victim "to the boss who knew all the parts and how to work them."

Dr. Pollock was presented by Superintendent of Schools C. C. Green who said that "tonight we are welcoming a native son." Dr. Green called attention to the fact that Dr. Pollock is the first graduate of a senior high class who has been called back to deliver a commencement message. The speaker was a member of the class of 1916.

Speaking early on the program, the Michigan educator reviewed present day conditions as they exist all over the world and throughout the nation, declaring that "here in America we are inclined to be more optimistic in our attitude."

No Defeatist Attitude.

"Not for one moment," he quickly said, "would I adopt a defeatist attitude, and you, and seniors throughout the country tonight, must not do so. You must not be satisfied, however, with things as they are. The solution to many of the problems I am posing tonight will have to be found by government."

"America," Dr. Pollock told his listeners, "has had to cope in the past with problems no other nation has had to face and it has had an old political machine to handle it."

He decried the fact that besides inefficiency in government, and in business too, we have had corruption.

"You must have a high standard of ethics and of decency whether in government or in business," he said.

The "most potent tonic" to our government life today, he pointed

Brewer And Griffin Pay Penalty For Slaying Of Deputy Sheriff

FORT MADISON, Ia., June 5.—Saying "good bye" to each other, Elmer Brewer and Pat Griffin plunged to their deaths today on the Fort Madison penitentiary gallows.

The two men executed in the first double hanging in Iowa, were condemned for the slaying of William Dilworth, Waterloo, Ia., deputy sheriff, in December, 1932.

Brewer, 40 years old and father of five children, told Sheriff H. T. Wagner who sprung the trap, "I want you to respect my children," shortly before he went to his death.

Hold Husband In Wife's Death

Wife Of Tourist Camp Proprietor In New Jersey Found Dead

(International News Service)

PENNSGROVE, N. J., June 5.—Mrs. Ada Danser, 50, wife of a tourist camp proprietor, was shot dead in her home near here today.

Pending completion of their investigation, Salem county detectives arrested the woman's husband, Edward, who was recently discharged from the New Jersey state asylum for the insane, on a charge of homicide.

The couple had quarreled incessantly yesterday because of Danser's drinking, tourists told authorities. The husband, police said, had himself committed to the state hospital a month ago to "take the cure" but returned home last week and started drinking again.

Danser insisted his wife had killed herself with a small calibre pistol found beside her body. Police claim three bullets were fired from the gun, one entered the woman's chest, a second entered a wall and the third has not been accounted for.

LIBERAL LEGISLATION BEFORE HOUSE

Betting Bills Up For Action

Moomaw-Moran Bill Is Also Scheduled For Vote Today

LIQUOR BILLS ARE BACK IN COMMITTEE

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 5.—Liberal legislation again occupied the stage in the house today as the Baldi-Dent horse racing and parimutuel betting bill and the sowers bill for a $100,000,000 state lottery for blind and old age pensions appeared on the Calendar for a final vote.

Before proceeding with consideration of these measures, the house was scheduled to act finally on the highly controversial Moomaw-Moran bill designed to abolish 2500 Pennsylvania tax collectors and save taxpayers $3,000,000 a year through centralized tax collection such as Ohio has. The bill, which has survived one of the roughest fights in recent years, was listed as a special order of business for 12:30 EST this afternoon.

Under the newest of its many amendments, the Moomaw-Moran bill carried a local option clause and provided further that the cost of collection be limited to one fourth of one per cent of the total tax duplicate.

Changes In Liquor Laws

The beer and liquor bills making many changes in the present laws were back in committee again today for further amendment after another brief airing in the house. When the beer bill was reached on the second reading calendar a half dozen members proposed amendments. Rep. Herman Eberharter, Allegheny, one of the sponsors, offered an amendment reducing the license fee for distributors from $1,000 to $500 while Rep. C. A. Sowers, Philadelphia, offered an amendment raising the tax on manufacturers from $1,000 to $5,000.

By a vote of 109 to 64 the house agreed to Sowers' motion to send the bill and amendment back to committee for further study and took similar action on the liquor bill which also met with a number of changes.

Expect House Action

Following passage yesterday of the Schwartz-Melchiorre-Barber bill permitting Sunday motion pictures were approved by local option, liberals in the house expressed confidence sufficient votes would be mustered to pass the horse racing and lottery bills. Efforts to legalize both have been made during the last 10 years in the house but to no avail. Bills have either been killed on the floor or in committee and today was the first time sponsors expressed confidence the legislation would pass.

Lengthy debate and routine business delayed action on a long list of third reading bills with the result that a heavy calendar faced the house when it reconvened today. In addition a long list of postponed bills remained on the calendar but house officials were determined to clear the decks by long sessions today.

down" on the recalcitrants of any industry that does not choose to go along.

The President and his advisers hope and believe that the voluntary adherence to the codes will be widespread, that the standards of shorter hours and higher wages will be preserved by industry for its own good.

For those industries which make a sincere effort to carry on in the spirit of the original NRA there will be encouragement and the favor of governmental contracts. For those that attempt to maintain price agreements, while "chiseling" on hours and wages, there arises the threat of prosecution under the anti-trust laws.

Will Watch Industry

The administration's position is that industry cannot have its cake—price agreements—and then chisel on hours and wages. To watch this situation will be one of the principal jobs of the skeleton NRA organized to be maintained in Washington and in key centers throughout the country for the next nine months.

Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers, among them Donald R. Richberg, were extremely loath to give up the code-fight battle. They did so only after legislative leaders had informed them that it would be impossible within 11 days to find a way to circumvent the supreme court—if it could be done at all.

The nine-month period will afford them additional time to plan. It will also afford a period in which to watch the operation of industry freed of all restraint after two years of regimentation. In that time, they expect public opinion to crystallize so far as the NRA is concerned. It will be easier to make decisions six or eight months from now in the light of the period into which business and industry is now entering.

Col. Lindbergh Off T.W.A. Rolls For Some Time

Has Not Been Paid, At Own Request, For Several Months

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 5.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has not been paid, at his own request, for the past several months by the Trans-Continental Western Airways, Inc.

But he is still connected with the company in the same advisory capacity.

This information was contained today in a statement from H. B. Dupont, chairman of the company, who hurried here from Wilmington, Del., to clarify the situation caused by a statement he had made there to the effect that Col. Lindbergh had severed active connection with the company and the insistence of company officials here that there had been no change.

Dupont's statement read: "Colonel Lindbergh has not dissevered connection with the TWA. His relationship with the company is substantially the same as it has been when he surveyed the TWA routes in 1928.

"During the last several months Colonel Lindbergh has found it necessary to devote most of his time to his personal affairs and at his own request he has received no retainer from the company during this period. He is still connected with TWA in the same advisory capacity."

Dupont was reported on his way back to Wilmington when the statement was released.

Hotel Men Make Direct Appeal To Gov. Earle

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 5.—Telegraphic demands for a veto of the Reynolds bills "putting teeth" in the state's equal rights law were before Gov. George H. Earle today from the Pennsylvania State Hotel Association.

The bill has passed both senate and house and is on the governor's desk. It increases penalties for refusing equal treatment to persons because of race, creed or color.

WORKERS MUST PAY BACK WAGE BOOST

MACON, Ga., June 5.—Garment workers at Happ Brothers Co. here have been advised by the company that a 10 per cent wage increase, ordered into effect January 28 and continued for ten weeks, must be repaid to the company by the workers.

A published report said the increase was ordered by the national administration in addition to the original NRA code minimum. The increase will be deducted in small amounts from the workers' pay.

NORTHWEST GANG BEING HUNTED FOR LAD'S KIDNAPING

George was returned to his home, five suspects in a tan sedan eluded a posse in an exciting 90-mile-an-hour chase.

E. J. Connelly, special agent in charge of G-men working on the case, said he "didn't know anything about the reported arrest of a suspect at Portland."

Suspect Not Held.

Portland, Ore., June 5.—It was definitely determined today by International News Service that "Fat" Jack Brown, ex-big-time bootlegger in Oregon and Washington, sought for questioning in connection with the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping, was not held incommunicado in Portland jails by federal "G-men" as rumored.

Chief of Police Harry M. Niles, however, announced today that they were seeking Brown for questioning as a matter of police routine. No instructions or other names of kidnap suspects have ben sent to headquarters here by federal authorities, Niles said.

Ready To "Crack Down"

Tacoma, Wash., June 5.—The G-men were believed about ready to "crack down" on at least one of the mob that assertedly kidnaped little George Weyerhaeuser.

This was indicated today following a report from Police Chief Niles of Portland, Ore., that a Tacoma bootlegger, who assertedly fits the description of the "pot-bellied" suspect, was the subject of a vast manhunt in the northwest.

E. J. Connelly, special agent in charge of the G-men working on the $200,000 Weyerhaeuser case, refused to make any comment upon the person—or persons—who are the subject of the hunt.

Five to eight men are said to have participated in the kidnaping, according to reliable sources. Law enforcement officials are known to have the descriptions of five of the gang, although only three have been broadcast.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co

THE FUTURE FOR THE GRADUATES

TO this year's graduates of New Castle high school, and to those in nearby districts, we extend congratulations. You have completed the courses offered by your communities, but your educational careers are not ended. Some of you will go to colleges next fall; some will not. But regardless of that, you never will cease to learn. You will continually gain new knowledge, for life itself is an educational process.

Some of you will climb to high places. Some of you will trudge along at a mediocre pace. Some will be looked upon as failures. That is the way of life. Into which class you fall depends entirely upon yourself.

As you move along in life many illusions will be shattered and you will find that this is a world of stark realism. You will encounter difficulties, a certain amount of sorrow and discouragement. It is your lot, just as it is the lot of all human beings. But you are young and enthusiastic, and we envy you your opportunity to tackle the problems of life with youthful spirit.

To you who are going to college may we say that your formal education is just beginning? In the schools of higher learning new worlds will appear before you. May you be as successful in attaining your ambitions, as you were in completing the public school courses.

And to you who must seek employment may we issue the warning that jobs are hard to find? But that is no news, for you have been been hearing it almost daily for several years. But do not permit that to dampen your ardor. The world is full of opportunities. Opportunity has quit knocking at doors. It has gone into hiding for the time being. But it still exists, and can be found if the search is sufficiently intensive and determined.

THE NEW QUEEN OF THE SEA

Nearly everything one could wish for in modern sea-going luxury is to be found on the mammoth Normandie. Hers is also the speed record, 107 hours and 33 minutes for the 3192 miles from Southampton to New York. The pride which the French people have in a gorgeous liner too large to pass through the Panama Canal is shared by the government which made the economic risk possible.

We welcome the Normandie, not only as a fine example of designing and engineering skill, but as a demonstration of faith in world trade recovery. Federal subsidies for American-built ships, as advocated in proposed legislation, would permit economic risks which private builders would not otherwise take.

Nor would American designers be slow to prove their own genius in prideful competition with foreign builders.

OUR NATIONAL RANGE

Perhaps we never made a greater mistake in policy than when we turned over the national range to homesteaders. No sooner did we do that than the price of beef began to go up.

When the homesteaders came in they began to plow up the buffalo grass that once carpeted the plains from the Rio Grande almost to the Canadian border.

One year out of five these homesteaders got some kind of crop. But it was not a region adapted to field farming. It was a country where the buffalo had roamed in immense herds, a country where cattle flourished—it was a range. The very name meant it was not possible to fence off the place and tame. The cattle needed to roam mile after mile. In that way the grass was preserved.

We did not appreciate the fact nature had made that land fit for just one thing. A hungry homestead lobby spread abroad reports to "cattle barons" who were occupying thousands of acres and keeping the poor farmers out. Poor farmers indeed! They have been poorer ever since they plowed up the range and attempted to do the impossible. Grass lands, they found by bitter experience, were neither corn nor wheat lands.

Had we left well enough alone the beef cattle would still be on that great range, and we would not be importing meat from Canada and the Argentine. Nor would we be compelled to extend charity to these homesteaders, who by their own folly have brought about the ruin of one of our great national resources.

SMOKE IT OUT

Senator Alonzo S. Batchelor of this 47th district has presented a resolution to the Pennsylvania State Senate which seems to have that august body frightened for some reason. The resolution merely calls for the investigation of alleged lobbying and promises made, to bring about the bill which would rip out of office Mayor William N. McNair of Pittsburgh.

No honest senator need fear the resolution. If the allegations made—that promises of patronage have been made for votes—are untrue then nobody is hurt. If the charges are true, then the people of the commonwealth have a right to know it.

We hold no brief for Mayor McNair. His actions at times have not been those of a statesman, but not even his worst enemies have accused him of being corrupt. His worst sin seems to have been the refusal to bow the knee to the Democratic overlords in the matter of patronage.

He was elected by the city of Pittsburgh and regardless of whether or not he sometimes earns the criticism of serious people, he is still the creature of the citizenry and until such time as he is guilty of malfeasance in office, then ripping him out would be un-American.

In the meantime, if promises of political patronage or anything else have been offered senators for their votes to rip out McNair, then perhaps the ripper should go still further and include those senators, if there are any such.

Whatever the situation, the people have a right to know what it is all about. Batchelor's resolution would smoke it out and should be acted upon.

A civilized man is one who spends forty years of his life as a valet for property.

If he is weak and timid, his only chance is to be a gentleman and not believe in rough stuff.

The United States is seen as on the threshold of "incredible inventions." Most of them are incredible to us already.

TAKE AWAY THAT THERMOMETER

MY FACE is flushed. I feel hot I don't feel so well. . . Perhaps it's something I've eaten. I may be "getting something,,. I think I'll go to bed early tonight. . . Now don't make a fuss. I'll be all right in the morning. I know I will.

Now, I'm going to see the doctor tomorrow. What do doctors know, anyway? . . . Didn't one of them tell me that all but 15 per cent of his patients would get well anyway, without his help? Well, I'm not one of the 15 per cent. . . I'm going to get well all by myself. See if I don't.

No, no thermometer! . . I hate the darned thing. . . . The devil invented them. . . Remember that famous doctor who said that thermometers and grandmothers were the worst things around a sick child? . . Grandmothers fuss and bother and get upset and upset the patient. And thermometers tell the truth and start a sick fellow imagining all sorts of awful possibilities.

So no thermometers for me. . . I'm the imaginative, fretful type. You stick a thermometer into my mouth and tell me I've got a temperature of a 100 degrees and pretty soon I'll be convincing myself that I'm getting typhoid fever or spinal meningitis or something like that. . . . I'll get the habit, perhaps. I'll start carrying a thermometer around wherever I go, and whenever I feel a little flushed I'll be sticking that gadget in my mouth and taking my temp.

And I'll have to learn how to read one. . . . After 25 years I learned how to read a railway time table and what good has THAT done me? . . . It's too late in life for me to start on thermometers.

I'll go to bed. . . I'll read a little while. . . I'll turn out the light. . . And in 15 minutes by the clock I'll be sound asleep. (But NOT snoring.) . . . And in the morning I'll be feeling FINE again. . . . And without any THERMOMETER!

FISHING MEMORIES

Oh, I watched the men in the olden days start out on their fishing trips,
With their costly reels and their silken lines and rods with the jeweled tips.
I saw them leave with their hired guides and dreamed of the days to be
And the joy Id have on a fishing trip when fortune had smiled on me.
I fancied that happiness came from things and down at the fishing hole
I longed for a rod with an agate tip instead of a bamboo pole.

Behind the barn I would dig for worms, which I kept in a rusty can
And dreamed of the days when I'd buy my bait in the way of a wealthy man,
Then off we'd go—my pals and I—to the favorite spots we knew,
Where we watched the men and the guides set out and we saw what gold can do.
"Some day" said I "Ill have tackle fine and a rod with an agate throat,
And happy I'll be as I start away with a guide to row the boat."

In time I gave up the bamboo pole and the can that I used for bait
And I've been rowed to the fishing ground by a guide for the daily rate.
I've cast my line through an agate throat from a reel that was finely wrought.
I've gone to the stream equipped with things—but it wasn't the fun I thought.
I've caught some fish in the splendid way, but whether I cast or troll
I know in my heart I was happier far when I fished with a bamboo pole.

UNSELFISH INTEREST IN OTHERS ENGENDERS PERSONAL POPULARITY

There is an easy way to become popular, but it would not suit you.

Refrain from talking about your hobbies: encourage the other fellow to tell you about his.

Don't mention the operations you have had; get the other fellow to tell you how near he came to passing out when he had certain organs removed.

Praise the other fellow's youngsters instead of constantly bringing up the smart sayings and doings of your boy or girl.

Don't be so positive in your opinions and assertions and don't take issue with your companions who have opinions other than yours.

Be liberal in your praise of everything the other fellow does.

Spend your money liberally and you will find yourself surrounded by a certain class of satellites who tell you how fine you are.

They'll praise you in talking to those whom they wish to go to you with their statements.

And so you become a jelly fish.

You certainly can't respect yourself if you're all these things; those who pay you compliments do not admire you, they want something.

If you wish to be popular you must pay the price in real unselfishness.

It is worth the effort.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:24. Sun rises tomorrow 4:30.

A COUPLE O' CHUCKLES

Chinese coolies are said to make excellent servants. They do not gossip or carry gossip, at least, not outside of their own circle of friends. And they do not complain, so long as they get their food, lodging, a little money to send back home and a little for gambling. But more than anything else, they are held in esteem as servants because they are discreet. A well known movie actress had just slipped on her dress when one of her Chinese servants opened the door of her room and came in unannounced. The sudden entrance disturbed the young lady. What if he had come in but a half minute before, when she had on little more than her scanty underwear? She must reprimand him so that he would not repeat the offense. "Li," she said, frowning upon him to the utmost of her severity, "don't you know that you should knock on the door before coming into this room? I might be undressed." Li put on his blandest smile. "No be 'flaid, ma'am," he said, reassuringly, "befo' I come inside, I allus look in key-hole."

What puzzles us is how alienated affection can be worth a lot of money if it is the kind that anybody can alienate.

The storm roared and the sea ran wild to the accompaniment of blinding flashes of lightning. With each deafening crash of a mountainous wave that broke over the decks, the ship pitched violently, shaking and trembling from stem to stern. The Captain came down from the bridge and called for the passengers and crew to assemble in the lounge. Raising his powerful voice above the thunderous roar of the sea, he told the frightened group that the ship was doomed and would have to be abandoned. Then, gazing over the terror-stricken assemblage, he asked, "Is there anyone here who can pray." After a moment's silence, a man stumbled forward. "I can pray, sir," he said. "Good," replied the Captain patting him on the back. "And now," he said, facing the others, "each of you put on a life preserver." Then turning to the man beside him, he continued solemnly, "And you pray, my good man—we're one life preserver short."

GOOD SENSE

Many years ago, shortly after Sidney Wilson, now treasurer of Western Reserve University, was invited by his father to become a partner in the family's general store, located in a small Ohio town, a farmer one day leaned on the counter and addressed the young man as follows:

"Well, Sid, I hear your father is going to take you into the business. Of course he'll give you a lot of advice, and your uncle, who owns the bank, will lend you all the money you need. But I can tell you something that you'll find mighty useful. Just remember that the answer to most propositions is "Hell, No'."

Mr. Wilson, who admires the wisdom of country folk, still thinks, after forty years of business experience, that the farmer packed a lot of good sense into his counsel.

Survey Damage To New Deal.
Results Of Court Decision.
Political Effect On Recovery.

NOTE—Through a delay in the mails, the third article on the constitution by Eichel has not arrived at The News for publication today.

Central Press

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 5.—It will be days and perhaps weeks before New Dealers will be able to determine accurately the amount of damage done to their alphabetical setups and still pending reform plans by the supreme court's decision emasculating rather than killing the NRA.

For example, it would not seem at first thought that the decision should sideswipe the Federal Alcohol Control board. Nevertheless, the board was created under the National Industrial Recovery act and its personnel is outspokenly fearful that it will go into the discard. How many more commissions, administrations and bureaus will be jeopardized can be forecast only as the court's opinion is studied in connection with all its possible applications to them.

A question also is raised as to the constitutionality of taxing intrastate business federally for old age pensions and unemployment insurance.

In short, not alone the New Deal's entire present status is enveloped in uncertainty, but there is no safety in predictions relating to its future.

ON CURTAILING COURT

While there is some congressional talk, notably by Senators La Follette and Costigan, of action toward curtailing the supreme court's power to nullify legislation, there is not much heart in it.

An overwhelming majority of the lawnmakers, unmistakably judging from their personal comment, believe the decision will prove to be popular.

If the NRA had been a howling success, it would be different.

NOT BELIEVED CONSTITUTIONAL?

Another consideration: When the National Recovery act was passed, it quite generally was agreed that it was not strictly constitutional but, its supporters argued: "This is an emergency, in which what in effect is a suspension of the constitution is justifiable, and we prophesy that the supreme court will so hold."

The position of the supreme justices virtually is: "We agree with you that the thing is unconstitutional." They overruled the act of the legislators, but concurred in their numerously expressed opinion concerning the act's unconstitutionality.

It hasn't satisfactorily relieved the emergency either.

That, rather than its logic, is what makes the court's position so strong.

Incidentally, the acquiescence of Justices Brandeis and Cardozo in the court's ruling was a tremendously significant count in its favor. Those two liberals, had they dissented, undoubtedly could have given a moral victory to the New Dealers. Not the extremest radical, however, disputes the honest impartiality or legal acumen of either of those justices.

Besides, a few progressives, such as Senators Nye and Borah all along have denounced the NRA and various other New Deal setups as downright reactionary.

Thus, it does not necessarily follow that the supreme court's finding is to be interpreted as 100 per cent Tory. Borah, Nye and Clarence Darrow indorse it as heartily as Senators Carter Glass, L. J. Dickinson and Daniel O. Hastings, of the extreme conservatives.

LABOR'S PLIGHT

Labor's plans are thrown into confusion. The supreme court's distinction between inter and intrastate law means labor cannot get what it desires as to pay and hours without a constitutional amendment, probably requiring years to ratify.

From the farmers' standpoint, the prospects of the AAA likewise are clouded.

Yet there may be a pickup in business.

Spokesmen for finance, manufactures and commerce have been insisting that recovery is at hand if stability can be guaranteed.

There is an obvious sentiment that the court's decision guarantees it.

THE PRESIDENT'S POSITION

If the New Deal had been upheld and recovery had followed, President Roosevelt assuredly would have been given credit for it. If recovery ensues now that the New Deal has been hamstrung, anti-New Dealers will be given considerable color for the argument that the New Deal simply retarded recovery and that it set in directly after the hamstringing.

There also is the chance that wages will be cut, hours lengthened, sweat-shop practices revived and that labor troubles will break out with the abandonment of codes.

Either way will be unfavorable to President Roosevelt. If times improve, the administration will be blamed for having delayed improvement. If they do not improve, the administration will be blamed on that ground.

Guessing from now, the administration will win in 1936 any way.

Nevertheless, maximum luck seems to have turned against the White House tenant.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5.

TODAY'S YESTERDAYS—June 5, 1628—The country's first outlaw, Thomas Morton, 53, was captured by Capt. Miles Standish and soldiers of Plymouth colony. The one among his many crimes for which he was arrested, was instructing Amerindians in the use of firearms.

June 5, 1723—Adam Smith was born in Scotland after his father's death, destined to make himself the best known of all the Smiths with his writings on political economy.

His celebrated masterpiece, Wealth of Nations, lay on his desk unrevised and untouched for four years after he completed it, before he offered it to a publisher.

June 5, 1783—The 110-foot balloon designed and built by the Montgolfier brothers—Joseph, 43, and Etienne, 38—made the world's first public ascension, at Annonay, France.

There were no passengers. It rose 6,000 feet, arousing wide world debate among scientists.

June 5, 1790—The world's first steamship line was started by John Fitch, 47, between Philadelphia, Trenton and Burlington on the Delaware River—17 years before Robert Fulton built his first steamboat! The Fitch invention ran during the entire summer (at 8 m. p. h.) as a passenger-boat, under a license granting Fitch the exclusive right to use the waters of New Jersey, New York, Delaware, Pennsylvania and Virginia, for purposes of steam navigation.

June 5, 1851—The best-selling novel ever written in America began its first publication as a serial in The National Era, anti-slavery weekly, and attracted no attention! It was, of course, Uncle Tom's Cabin, written by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe in Brunswick, Maine, when she was 38.

June 5, 1933—Congress consummated legislation abrogating the gold clause in bonds.

You're wrong if you believe the law was drawn up by senators or representatives! It was written by two relatively obscure Treasury lawyers—John G. Harlan, 44, and John G. Laylin, 33.

Other Notable Nativities—Diego Rodriguez de Silva Velasquez, b. 1599, Spanish Old Master-painter.

John Meynard Keynes, b. 1883, British political economist . . . Austin C. Lescarboura, b. 1891, scientific magazine editor . . . Bill Boyd, b. 1898, cinemactor.

Death Penalty Is Demanded In Trial Of Gills

Commonwealth Asks Jury To Find Father, Mother And Daughter Guilty Of Plot

(International News Service)

MIDDLEBURG, Pa., June 5.—Demanding the supreme penalty, the commonwealth presented further testimony today in the murder trial of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Gill and their 16-year-old daughter Zella, accused as accomplices in the slaying of Charles Gable, a farmer, for which the girl's sweetheart, Sherman L. Strawser, 29, is to die in the electric chair.

Mrs. Gable, widow of the victim, was the first witness for the prosecution. Bursting into tears as Special Prosecutor John L. Pipa, Jr., of Shamokin, told the jury his version of the murder plot, Mrs. Gable testified to her husband's visit to his barn last February that ended in his death.

Seek Death Penalty

"We are going to ask you to mete out to the Gills the same punishment that was accorded their agent," Pipa told the jury of 11 men and one woman that was selected a day after the parents and their daughter were indicted.

Strawser, who implicated the Gills, will be the star witness for the state. Several hundred persons crowded the courtroom, over which Judge Curtis C. Lesher, who sentenced Strawser to death, presided.

The Gills were implicated in the slaying in a statement presented to the state pardon board by Strawser for clemency in which he charged Gill had threatened him with arrest on a morality charge involving Zella unless he robbed Gable and obtained money to effect Gill's release from jail, where he was lodged in default of a liquor fine and proceed with the marriage.

Strawser at his trial pleaded that he killed Gable in a robbery to get money to purchase a wedding dress for Zella.

LARGEST HIGH SCHOOL CLASS IS GRADUATED ON TUESDAY EVENING

out, would be realized if everybody would give a half hour of time to civic duty and the study of government each week.

Future of Government Challenged.

"The future of popular government," Dr. Pollock declared as he closed, "is challenged tonight. Members of the graduating class, and others, I give to you the Ship of State."

Through the discourse the audience had listened attentively, from the man in the front row on the main floor to the man in the last row on the top balcony.

Between the address and the presentation of honor awards, Vincent Evenoski, assisted by the senior high school orchestra, played a cello solo, "Kol Nidrei" by Max Bouch. He won heavy applause.

One by one the coveted graduating awards were presented to the honor seniors on the platform by representatives of organizations and firms which give the prizes annually or semi-annually.

The recipients sat on the stage with the speakers and those who offered the awards throughout the exercises.

Diplomas Presented

When the last prize had been given, Dr. Green, after paying tribute to the parents of the graduates and to the citizens for their cooperation in school work generally, introduced J. Herbert McIlvenny, vice president of the board of education and father of Betty McIlvenny, one of the graduates, who presented diplomas.

"I purposely asked to do this job tonight," Mr. McIlvenny stated, "and I'm getting as much of a thrill out of it as you seniors are."

For over 20 minutes, while the Senior high orchestra played a march, the seniors, seated during the program in the center of the main floor, marched out the rear doors, around the side corridor and across the platform to receive their certificates from the board of education officer. Because of the large number of graduates, the presentation itself took up a large part of last night's program. A Senior high teacher, William A. Margraf, assisted Mr. McIlvenny in the presentation.

Program Of Evening

Presiding as chairman of the evening program was James Dart, president of the graduating class.

The invocation and benediction was pronounced by the Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church.

Playing during the program was the Senior high orchestra, led by Prof. J. F. Replogle.

Awards presented last night were as follows:

Prize offered by the Lawrence chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, to Bernard Chill—Presented by Mrs. W. R. Campbell.

Prize offered by the New Castle News for general excellence in English during the high school course, to Donna Jean Beall—Presented by Fred L. Rentz, president of The News company.

Prize offered by the Fleming Music store for general excellence in music, to Vincent Evenoski—Presented by Griff Thomas, board of education member.

A total of 530 seniors received diplomas this year in the two Senior high commencements. A class of 169 members was graduated in January. The group of 361 which received diplomas last night was the largest ever graduated, the second largest being the 325 seniors who comprised the Class of 1925. Only June commencements were held then.

Principal Frank L. Orth, veteran of many a commencement, led the seniors in their march into and out of the auditorium last night.

The class, during its four years, had been supervised by Miss Virginia Weinschenk, faculty member.

Mail Receipts Up; Credit Not Given To Chain Letters

May's Receipts Gain $1,502.09 Over May Of '34, Steen Reports

While New Castle's postal receipts for May were $1,502.09 higher than for any May of recent years, Postmaster Richard A. Steen doesn't credit chain letters, as some postmasters have, for the increase.

"We didn't handle enough to affect the receipts much," he said.

Reports are current that in many of the larger cities the chain mail boosted receipts tremendously.

The increase which sent the figure of receipts for this May to $13,219.76, compared to the $11,717.67 for May of 1934, was largely attributed by Steen to patronage of the area's relief headquarters here.

Skirt Snatcher Makes Appearance

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 5 — Girls—of all things—a skirt snatcher!

Virginia Beagan, 17, strolled idly along a quiet Cambridge street today.

A youth approached and, as Virginia was about to pass,-----

He bowed gracefully, deftly unhooked Virginia's dainty silk skirt.

Speechless — shocked — paralyzed with astonishment, Virginia watched the youth gallop away, triumphantly waving the skirt over his head.

CHARGE CAMPOLI WITH SUSPICION

City Detectives McCullen and Horner yesterday arrested Rudolph Campoli, Home street, who came here recently from California, on a charge of suspicion, it having been alleged he stole 30 gallons of gasoline from the Mooney Trucking Service at 211 Mechanic street. Chief of Police John F. Haven stated that he would be charged with larceny.

Truce In Walkout At Pants Factory

Hope Arrival Of One Of Owners Will Bring Adjustment Of Dispute

Pending the arrival of J. Alpert, one of the owners of the National Pants Company, a strike of part of the employes of the plant was temporarily adjusted today. The walkout came when the company put into effect a 40-hour week as against the 36-hour week, which was the NRA code provision.

The 40-hour order applied only to those employes not on government work. These employes, about 200 in number, are engaged in completing an order for 53,000 pairs of pants for the United States army. They are working the 36-hour week as they did under the code.

The balance of the employes, including machine operators, cutters, pressers and the like, walked out in protest. About 10 o'clock a truce was called and it was agreed that the employes who had walked out would go back in, work along on the 36-hour schedule, and Mr. Alpert asked to come to New Castle to adjust the matter.

Earle Will Appoint Milk Control Member

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 5. — Gov. George H. Earle today had given his assurance to a score of house Democrats interested in milk control that he will name the third member of the milk control board before the senate meets again next Monday night.

Failure of the senate to confirm the governor's appointments of Paul O. Sunday and A. C. Marburger has prevented active enforcement of the recently re-enacted milk control law. Price orders are being enforced by the administrative staff but licenses to dealers and producers cannot be issued because the board cannot begin work until it has been confirmed by the senate.

Explosion At Connellsville Injures Two

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., June 5.—Two men were severely burned by fire, resulting from an explosion of undetermined origin, which destroyed a large quantity of foodstuffs and damaged a warehouse at a loss of $15,000 near here today.

William Zakour, 41, owner of the warehouse, and his cousin, Alexander Ellien, 23, of New York, were burned. Mrs. Zakour and her three-year-old son were thrown out of their beds by force of the explosion which wrecked the side of their home.

Flames, resulting from the blast, spread from a garage to the warehouse, burning a truck and damaging the building badly.

Sterilization Bill Sent Back

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 5.—A spontaneous outburst of opposition today had sent the Aron-Rankin bill authorizing sterlization of mental defectives back to committee where it may be lost in the last-minute rush to adjournment.

On motion of Senator John J. McCreesh, Philadelphia, who said he "didn't like the measure," the bill was recommitted when it came up for final senate action. A sharp debate preceded the vote, during which Senator I. Dana Kahle, Clarion, a physician, termed the bill "vicious" and Senator Harry Shapiro, Philadelphia, came to its defense as a humane measure which would prove a money-saver to the state.

Revised NRA Is Being Prepared

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 5.— The first phase of President Roosevelt's NRA stopgap legislation, continuing a skeleton NRA organization for 9½ months, will be rushed through the house on Friday, Speaker Byrns announced today.

Congressional leaders, in conference with presidential advisors, were drafting a revision of the Clark NRA resolution which passed the senate and now is pending in the house.

The house program, Bryns said, is for the ways and means committee to report the revised resolution tomorrow. Passage is planned on Friday with but two hours debate.

Arguments Heard In Gilkey Case

Grew Out Of Mandamus On County Controller To Pay Bill For Viaduct Plans

Arguments were made before Judges R. L. Hildebrand and James A. Chambers this morning on the mandamus brought by Civil Engineer T. A. Gilkey against County Controller, R. C. McCaslin to compel payment of a balance of $4,805, alleged to be due the plaintiff for drawing plans for the proposed Croton viaduct.

Attorneys John P. Lockhart and Alvah Shumaker appeared for Gilkey and Attorney Orville Brown, for the county controller. The county controller had held up the bill on the grounds that no copy of the contract made by the county commissioners with Gilkey had been filed with him within the time specified by law, and also on the further grounds that he had nothing to show the actual amount of work done.

Gilkey had already been paid, $800 on the contract, and his attorneys argued that this would indicate that the county controller recognized the agreement. The defense claimed that the controller had paid the money under the contract drawn with Gilkey for general work on roads and bridges, and as it had been certified by the county commissioners he took it to mean that it was a per diem payment on the general contract. It was also contended by the defense that it was not necessary to compare the complete plans in order for the grand jury to pass on them. The court will hand down a decision later.

Find True Bills In Numbers Cases

First Returns Are Made By Grand Jury In Recent Raid Cases

True bills were returned at court this morning on 15 of the "numbers" cases growing out of the recent raid led by Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard. There were three counts in most of the indictments. The first count charged conducting a lottery, the second maintaining a common nuisance and the third selling lottery tickets.

Those against whom true bills were returned were J. Harold Wood, J. A. Buckner, Jack McGonigle, Pete Chill, Clarence Klaber, Carl Cline, George E. Hawk, Ralph Kneram, Raymond Koellicker and Michael Herman.

Indictments against T. Borovolis, Michael Turco and Charles Jamison also contained a fourth count, in addition to the three mentioned above. This fourth count charged setting up a gambling device. The grand jury found a true bill on the first three, but not a true bill on the fourth.

There were four counts in the charges against James A. Travers and J. Borovilos, and true bills were returned on all four.

The only other true bill returned this morning was one against Arnold Powell for operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner.

Alabama Pitts Is Barred From Baseball Field

Refused Right To Play Baseball After Sing Sing Release

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., June 5.—Three strikes—you're out!

Alabama Pitts may be, but his baseball bosses and team-mates won't take it lying down. They're protesting the decision bitterly.

Just as Alabama's mother predicted six years ago, when he drew a long stretch for a five-dollar robbery, the star athlete of Sing Sing will leave the big house with three strikes called before he swings.

A decree by Judge W. G. Bramham, of Durham, N. C., president of the National Association of Professional Baseball league, bars Alabama from playing tomorrow—when he is paroled—with the Albany baseball club which had signed him as outfielder in anticipation of his release.

Evers Wants Pitts

When Alabama, with leaden steps, entered the penitentiary six years ago, his mother sighed:

"He'll never get a job when he gets out—he'll never have a chance."

Her doleful prophecy, however, may not be final. General Manager John J. Evers of the Albany club said that while he would abide temporarily by Judge Bramham's decision, an appeal would be taken. The southern baseball czar holds "the public would resent" the appearance of Pitts on the diamond.

Preparing For Double Hanging

Erecting Scaffold On Which Mother And Son Are To Be Executed

HANGINGS WILL OCCUR ON FRIDAY

(International News Service)

GEORGETOWN, Del., June 5—A clatter in the yard of the Sussex county jail today caused Mrs. May H. Carey, 55, to lift her eyes from her Bible, and her son, Howard, 27, to pause in his prayers.

They could not see into the yard, but they knew that the noise was occasioned by the arrival of the gallows on which they will be hanged Friday morning. The instrument of death was shipped here from the New Castle county workhouse eighty miles north.

For a few minutes Mrs. Carey and her son, who are in death cells only a few feet apart, appeared perturbed. Then they became calm again, apparently lulled by the religion they have embraced so fervently in the last weeks of their life.

While they thumbed their Bibles and uttered prayers death's handymen went about the tasks that will culminate when two new chapters are written into Delaware's history as the end of another almost perfect crime.

One chapter will be the first hanging of a white woman in this state; the other the first mother and son hanging in Delaware.

The hangmen will spring the trap twice to avenge Delaware for the murder of Mrs. Carey's brother, Robert H. Hitchens, who was clubbed to death November 7, 1927, for a paltry $2,000 insurance policy. The crime was unsolved for seven years.

Authorities are doing everything in their power to keep the hanging from becoming a public spectacle or the occasion for disturbance. A minimum of witnesses will be admitted.

Boy Scout plans for the coming summer and for the ensuing year will be laid at the dinner-meeting of Lawrence county's scout leaders at the First Christian church on Friday evening, June 7 at 6:30 o'clock.

Reservations for the dinner were reaching scout headquarters today. Those who have yet to make known their intention of attending should call Bell 5477 soon.

Postponed from last Monday because of graduation activities, the rally is expected to bring together the leaders of the movement in the county. An exhibition in which scouts will participate will feature.

DR. POLLOCK GETS WARM WELCOME AT HOTEL RECEPTION

Graduation Speaker Renews Old, Makes New Friends Among Admirers

Between 150 and 200 New Castle and Lawrence county residents, the majority of them Senior high school graduates, paid honor last night to the man who has not alone brought distinction to himself but also to the local high school which gave him a diploma in 1916.

The man was Dr. James K. Pollock, speaker at the Cathedral commencement which saw the largest Senior high class receive diplomas.

At The Castleton the proud friends of the University of Michigan professor, called abroad by the League of Nations last January to serve in the delicate Saar plebiscite, renewed their old acquaintance with him. New friends met him.

Small black and gold bows, the colors of the class of 1916, the group which sponsored the informal reception, distinguished the classmates of Dr. Pollock.

The reception followed the commencement and continued in the hotel lounge for several hours.

Dr. Pollock, rushed with university work, left by train for the return trip to Ann Arbor about midnight.

Members of the class of 1916 came from all over the county and, with certain leaders who arranged the testimonial affair, enjoyed a reunion once more. The class plans to mark its 20th anniversary at the alumni reunion in 1936.

With June nearly a week gone, and the tin mill picnic scheduled for Cascade Park on Saturday, June 29, the tin workers are beginning to "turn on the heat" in their preparations for the annual event.

Tickets are out and are being disposed of rapidly according to the committee men in charge of this phase of the work. Arrangements have been made to give away an automobile, an electric refrigerator and a score of other valuable articles to somebody who attends the picnic.

Last year's picnic was a colossal success and the committee in charge hopes to repeat it this year. An order has been put through to the Weather Man for twenty-four hours of good weather for the picnic, and the order is endorsed by every man employed in the tin mills here.

In company with a number of companions, the Bruce girl had gone swimming at Castle Beach, and after diving into the water, became panic stricken. She was finally dragged to safety by girl companions, more dead than alive.

Mr. Glitch, who happened to be in the vicinity applied the prone method of resuscitation, and after she had recovered, saw that she was removed to the home of friends, her parents being away for the afternoon.

In a recent issue of the Galeton, Pa., Leader-Dispatch, a lengthy article is devoted to the CCC camp located at Dyer Farm. The camp is under the direction of Captain Robert C. Wallace and Lieutenant Donald E. Dennis, both of whom are New Castle men.

State College Lies In Natural Beauty Spot

Pennsylvania State college in the town of the same name. A striking air view of the famous institution and campus at the junction of U. S. route 322 and route 45, Centre county, not far from the geographical center of the Keystone state, in beautiful Nittany valley amidst the Allegheny plateaus.

HARRISBURG, June 4.—Crisscrossed by the two main diagonal highways in the state and skirted by the Willian Penn highway, Centre county, where State college is located, is one of the natural beauty spots in Pennsylvania. Nature and man attained an harmonious balance in this central mountainous area before the days of the automobile, and the extension of excellent roads throughout the county has not destroyed this feature.

The Lakes-to-the-Sea highway, route 322, enters Centre county from Erie at Philipsburg on the northwest and dips over the mountains to Lewistown on the southeast where it taps the William Penn highway and leads to Harrisburg and Philadelphia.

U. S. highway 220 swings northwest from West Virginia through Bedford and Altoona to cross Centre county through the Bald Eagle valley on its way to Williamsport and northeastern Pennsylvania.

Throughout Centre county concrete highways and well-kept macadam roads sweep through broad valleys and wind up the sides of friendly mountains. State forests and good camping sites are within easy reach of hard roads, and good accommodations for travelers are available in the small towns and villages which dot the landscape.

The charm of the mountains pervade Centre county. Their magic is not limited to a single season, it persists throughout the year.

Not only has nature dealt with a generous hand in providing delights for the traveler in Centre county, but man has added his share to the attractions. In Bellefonte, the county seat, are to be found beautiful old colonial doorways and other examples of age-old architecture. The history of the little city itself goes back to the revolutionary days. The name was bestowed by Talleyrand when he beheld the enormous spring in what is now the center of the city from which a small river issues. "La Belle Fountaine!" he exclaimed, and Belle Fountaine, Bellefonte, the name became.

Governors, generals, senators, came to the service of the state from Bellefonte, and here resided the men who participated in establishing the Pennsylvania State college in almost the geographical center of the commonwealth. The college is located some twelve miles from Bellefonte in the Nittany valley, a broad, level plateau high in the mountains.

The Pennsylvania State college is an institution which has been virtually rebuilt in the past ten years. Its tradition of sound scholarship and generous service is old, but its buildings are new and modern.

The Bureau of Publicity and Information of the Pennsylvania Department of Highway, Harrisburg, will gladly answer inquiries concerning routes and destinations on receipt of a postal card request.

Huge Police Dog Pays Visit To Police Chief

Some months ago a huge police dog which apparently was lost, strayed into the police station and was adopted by Chief of Police John F. Haven. He captivated the affections of the dog by candy, choice morsels of meat and dog biscuits. The chief taught the dog, which weighs probably 100 pounds, several tricks.

At the very time it was believed the dog had a "home," the owner appeared at the police station and claimed his dog. Since that time the dog has made several trips to city hall. After staying awhile the dog would be taken home.

Tuesday it strolled into the police station, poked its nose against the door leading to the office of the chief of police and when the door was opened it bounded into the office of the chief and sat down in front of the chief.

No difference where the chief would go in city hall or outside the office the dog was at his heels.

TO WED LOCAL GIRL

A well known Sharpsville boxer, Sam Bucciarelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Soccy Bucciarelli, will take a bride in New Castle on June 27. He will marry Miss Constance Jesano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Jesano, this city.

The prospective groom is known to boxing fans as "Kid Sal."

LICENSE ISSUED

A marriage license has been issued at Mercer to Frank Rinker of Butler county, and Bertha A. Thompson of New Castle.

On Court House Hill

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard is preparing notices to post as to the distribution of proceeds of sheriff sales held on Monday. Ten days are given in which to file exceptions of schedules of distribution.

During the past week thirty-seven instruments of all kinds were filed at the register and recorder's office. Of this number 22 were deeds and 10 were mortgages. In the list was one mortgage to the Butler Production Association for livestock and farm equipment, and one to the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

It's a lot easier to get married than it is to break the fetters. A young woman of foreign descent found this out to her sorrow at the prothonotary's office yesterday. She had appeared the day previous and secured a marriage license. She gave her age as 21. The next morning she appeared at the marriage license desk. She said that she wanted to have her marriage license cancelled. Asked if she had been married she replied that she had, at a local alderman's office. However she had decided that she didn't want to be married, and, "Will you please scratch the license off the book." Then as a reason, she said she was only 18 years of age. "In that case," said the clerk, "you committed perjury and are liable to be arrested." Somewhat frightened the girl countered: "It was the young man I was going to marry who told me to say that I was 21." It was explained to the young woman that she was in hot water, and had better see a lawyer.

An order of Robert L. Johnson, executive director of the emergency relief that "chronic indigents" be shifted to counties, is not likely to seriously affect Lawrence county, as the county has been carrying that class for some time. On the county relief rolls are the aged and those are not able to take jobs. Reports from Harrisburg, however, would indicate that many counties have not been doing their share toward carrying this class.

Reports from the naturalization department at Pittsburgh, through which papers from the Lawrence county court pass, are to the effect that there has been a great increase of late in the number of applications for papers. This is attributed largely to the old age pension law. The applicants want to put themselves in line for some of the easy money being handed out. It is also said that fear of possible hostilities in Europe are causing foreigners to swear allegiance to this country.

Under the will of the late Sarah J. Arner, which has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office, cash bequests are made to a brother, Lyman P. Arner, and a sister, Louisa M. Speir. The remainder of the estate goes to a niece, Mary A. Artherholt, and such of the children of Louisa M. Speir and Lyman P. Arner, as may be living at the time the will becomes effective. A niece, Anna C. McGranahan and nephew, Fred K. Speir, are named as executors.

Mrs. Mary E. Willis, a divorcee, has been declared a "widow" in a very unusual opinion handed down by Judge Henry C. Niles of the York county, Pa., court. She sought the court ruling in order to benefit by the will of her late father, which bequeathed to her in trust one third of the estate appraised at $35,025, "if she becomes a widow." She was Mrs. William J. Willis at the time the will was drawn, but subsequently obtained a divorce.

Funds in the poor department and the general fund are at a very low ebb, according to County Treasurer William O. Pitts. Some bills have had to be held up, pending receipts of 1935 taxes which are now expected to come in.

Since the beginning of the year there has been paid out of the poor fund, $95,575.05 and out of the general fund, $126,685.23. For the month of May payments out of the poor fund amounted to $24,434.46, and out of the general fund, $33,-198.53.

Some of the larger items, in addition to salaries, for May were:

New Castle hospital, $2,067.50; Jameson Memorial hospital, $462.50, and Ellwood City hospital, $462.50. By an unusual coincidence the bills paid to the Jameson and the Ellwood hospitals, are the same.

Community service league, $162.49.

William M. Clark company, $1,-734. This is for work at the county home, where boilers and plumbing have been repaired.

Kline Shoe store, $1,434.60. This is for shoes furnished for those on relief.

From the general fund there were no large disbursements, except for salaries of county officials and employes. The balance of the bills were the general routine.

The county still owes some $80,000 borrowed from the banks, pending the collection of new taxes, but it is expected that this can be taken care of soon, once the new taxes begin coming in.

HIS VIEWS ON CANAL

Editor, The New Castle News,
Dear Sir:—

Bernarr McFadden, in a recent editorial, said, "When the politicians you elect, to care for your interests, fail you, it is time to gather in groups around his home with sticks and stones, and do him bodily harm." While I do not agree with him entirely, I would suggest that we eliminate their kind forever, from public office. Mr. McFadden means just this: when your county commissioners and other office holders and yes men spend your time and money travelling over the country, even going so far as the nation's capital, in an endeavor to force you to pay the freight bill of the Youngstown Steel mills, they have failed you.

Why these Lawrence County politicians and yes men are so anxious to stick their constituents for a canal, I can only guess, and your guess is as good as mine. Most likely we will draw the same conclusion.

But the real facts are never told by the canal advocates! Fifteen hundred men are to be employed to start the canal. That sounds fine! The real truth is there will be fifteen hundred temporary jobs at about forty cents an hour, while the canal is under construction. When the canal is completed, you will learn, to your dismay, just how many men will permanently hold jobs. But these same fifteen hundred temporary jobs will eliminate about the same number of permanent jobs, which pay from eighty cents to a dollar an hour.

Seventeen million dollars will be Beaver, Lawrence, and Mahoning counties' shares of the cost, but not on a 33 1-3% basis, for if you are at all familiar with the geography of the so-called "Rhur Valley," you can readily understand why Lawrence County will pay about 60% or more of this bill. No water-way was ever constructed that did not eventually cost about twice as much as the estimate; so please multiply to find the real cost of the canal. Then, too, you must understand that the initial cost is really small, when you actually know what will follow after.

Here is the reason why the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., wants the canal and it is likewise why I do not want it. They say they will ship seven millions tons of coal per year on the said canal and that is good for neither you nor me! I am going to tell you how the freight bill on this coal is paid at present and how it will be paid in the event the canal is constructed, then draw your own conclusion. The coal rate by rail from Rochester to Youngstown is eighty-nine cents per ton, paid by the shipper. On the canal, the rate will be one dollar and twenty-one cents per ton, but paid in this manner. The shipper pays but fifty-six cents and the taxpayer pays the other sixty-five (65) cents. Why should these good office holders wish you to pay sixty-five cents per ton on this freight bill, in order to save their friends thirty-three cents per ton? Sit down with paper and pencil and figure out for yourself just how much the freight bill of the Youngstown Steel Mills will cost you per year. Then, too, do not forget that we will pay interest on the debts incurred, that there will be other fixed charges and expenses without end. These figures may help you to decide that you, too, are opposed to the construction of a canal. So, my friends, if you do not like this picture, wire your senator or Pres. Roosevelt at once and demand that you be allowed to vote on this issue, before this foolishness is forced upon you.

In conclusion I would like to ask our council, who, in behalf of the citizens and industries of New Castle, as stated in a recent issue of The News, are asking that the funds for the canal be released, just what citizens do they represent and what industries in New Castle have pledged themselves to make use of a canal? I believe, Messrs. Councilmen, that in matters of this kind, the people should be allowed to speak for themselves. Surely you know that petitions opposing the canal have been sent to Washington! I refuse to believe that a majority of the taxpayers favor a canal. It seems to me you were elected to manage the business affairs of the city of New Castle, not to be spokesmen for its' people. When you speak "for the citizens of New Castle," are you referring to the petition sent to Washington some time ago, to which any child twelve years old was allowed to sign his name, because "eventually, he would have it to pay for?" You should realize that when these same children become tax paying citizens, they may be hundreds or thousands of miles away from Lawrence Co., and that it may matter little to them whether or not Lawrence Co., has a canal or whether it is ever paid for.

Signed:
S. P. MOORE,

New Castle Hospital Will Graduate Six

On Thursday evening, June 13, in the Benjamin Franklin junior high school auditorium, a class of six young women will receive diplomas at the annual commencement exercises of the New Castle hospital, it was announced today.

The exercises will start at 8:00 o'clock.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. June 4, three arrests on charges of drunkenness.

With school dismissed for the summer vacation period it is probable that contagion will take a sharp drop here. There have been several hundred cases reported during the past few months.

News that city policemen have been deputized as constables so they can patrol city-owned parks outside the corporate limits it is likely that vandalism will be decreased. Considerable work has been done to beautify the parks and it is most disheartening to say the least to find that young trees, flowers and benches have been wrecked.

Police department members in charge of the police cars and motorcycle keep the motor vehicles in a spic and span appearance. They deserve credit for taking pride in keeping them in that condition.

Council met informally yesterday and talked finance. They studied the bond situation. According to the councilmen New Castle is in a very healthy condition, financially.

Inspector Henry Dysart of the city's legal department yesterday worked on the renewal of liens for the South Liberty street sewer. The liens have aged more than five years, hence renewals.

Collection of delinquent taxes here has taken a slump. When the Home Owners Loan Corporation operated, refinancing brought a considerable amount of back taxes into city coffers. For a while it was inoperative. With its resumption it is believed there will be an increase in back tax payments in the near future.

Miss Ruth Kelland was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts at a shower given in her honor at the home of Miss Margaret Mehaffey in Valencia. In the center of the table was a miniature wedding procession.

Games were enjoyed during the afternoon, ending with a treasure hunt which led to the various rooms where the gifts were cleverly concealed.

Miss Kelland's marriage to John Piper will take place the latter part of this month.

Sweetheart Is Awaiting Death

Woman Was One Of Trio Accused Of Participating In Husband's Death

BODY IS FOUND IN RIVER STOUR

(International News Service)

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng., June 5.—Victor in a bitter battle to save herself from the hangman after the murder of her husband, Mrs. Alma Victoria Rattenbury found life too difficult to face with her ex-sweetheart under sentence of death.

The body of the 31-year-old music composer was found yesterday in the river Stour at Christchurch, near Bournemouth.

A cowman walking along the river bank found the corpse, and police took it to a mortuary, where it remained unidentified until today.

Two of Trio Now Dead.

Two of the three who participated in the weird "Snyder-Gray" triangle of Bournemouth are now dead, and George Percy Stoner, 19-year-old chauffeur whose mistress Mrs. Rattenbury became, is due shortly to go to the gallows for slaying Rattenbury with a wooden mallet.

Mrs. Rattenbury, who turned against her narcotic-addict lover in their joint trial, went to a London nursing home after her acquittal but left yesterday in a depressed condition.

She apparently went directly back to the scene of the murder, and ended her own life.

Today

Biggest, Fastest, Welcome.
Gangster Ingenuity.
Senator Borah's Speech.
Own Land, Best Property.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE GIANT French ship Normandie is here, and pleasing to Americans who like superlatives. She is the biggest liner ever launched, the longest, broadest, heaviest, costliest. And, crossing in four days, 11 hours, 42 minutes, she is the fastest. She is built, not for profit, but for glory and to advertise French supremacy.

England will soon send her Queen Mary after the Normandie's record, and, doubtless, Mussolini will soon enter the race.

Uncle Sam? Well, he is busy with other things, very busy, just now.

IN THE line of viciousness, modern gangsters show ingenuity. Police give these details of the death of Danny Walsh, head of a bootleg-rum syndicate, who was kidnaped, ransomed for $40,000, late murdered.

Enemies took him to sea in a boat, made him sit with his feet in a tub of wet cement, and watch while it hardened. He was then thrown overboard with the tub of cement hard around his feet. Several times, while he watched the cement harden, it must have occurred to Danny Walsh that a criminal career is not profitable.

SOMETIMES gangsters show signs of intelligence. Volney Davis, arrested in Chicago in connection with the Bremer kidnaping, was "flown" to St. Paul, and, arriving there, confessed complicity in the kidnaping, saying to the judge:

"I knew I could not get away from the 'G-men.'"

Senator Borah, of Idaho, could, when he chooses, equal Theodore Roosevelt as a maker of striking phrases.

Approving the supreme court action against NRA, Senator Borah denounces the administration's "chirping satellites, who have not the patience nor ability" to pass laws that will stand the supreme court test.

Senator Borah's radio speech, declaring that the forty-eight states must not be shorn of the power of submitting a constitutional amendment to the people, and challenging President Roosevelt to go before the people with such an amendment, may be an "opening gun" of the next Republican campaign, with Senator Borah as chief gunner.

LAND OWNERS is the best foundation of prosperity and security under just government.

Those seeking to establish refugees from Germany in Palestine decide, wisely, to begin with landownership. A fund expected to exceed five million dollars is being raised for that purpose.

Maurice Levin, of New York, in charge of a committee to raise funds for the land purchase, says truly:

"If you own part of the earth's surface, under just government, you own the one farm of wealth that cannot be taken from you. If you own the land on which your home stands, you have security for your family."

Those asking, "How can I invest what I have wisely?" might bear that in mind.

The ground under your feet cannot run away, cannot be stolen.

MEN ARE foolish in assorted ways. Baltaza Para, only twenty-four, thought he was in love with Mrs. O. R., married. To be rid of him, she sailed with her husband to Porto Rico. He was a stowaway on the boat, so she sailed back on another ship.

He stowed away on that and having finally concluded that the lady was not interested in him, killed himself before landing.

Allen E. Flynn, married to somebody else, planted himself in front of an automobile driven by Mrs. Mary L. Piersoll, in a busy part of Robinson, Ill., yesterday. Mrs. Piersoll, who had two children with her, stopped her car, was dragged from it and shot to death.

The female of the species may be more deadly than the male, but the male is more foolish, and more vicious.

SOMEBODY CONTRIBUTES the interesting information that, when Germany was inflating three thousand million marks, ordinarily worth $750,000,000, were worth exactly one-quarter of a cent. That is interesting, not important.

Quite important may be the effect of our inflating, as we are doing, with interest-bearing bonds, the government borrowing its own money from bankers, insisting on paying interest which doubles the debt. The debt of the United States, you will remember, is not "about thirty-six billion dollars, as stated. The debt is $72,000,000,000, because the government owes the billions, plus interest.

KING GEORGE, seventy years old yesterday, celebrated his birthday reviewing troops, wearing the uniform of colonel in chief of the Irish guards. He rode to Buckingham Palace on horseback, all four of his sons riding with him, while thousands cheered. Recently the queen celebrated here sixty-eighth birthday. It is desirable that the husband be a little older than the wife. That gives him an excuse for complaining. He can always say:

"Wait until you are as old as I am and you will understand."

Congress Will Shun Further Bonus Efforts

House And Senate Leaders Agree To Shun Bonus Fights For Rest Of Term

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 5.—There will be no further attempts to pass a bonus bill at this session of congress.

This was announced Tuesday after a meeting of senate and house members of the bonus bloc and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

They discarded a number of pending compromise bills in favor of a plan to revive the vetoed Patman bill next session.

Will Not Compromise

Senator Thomas (D) Oklahoma, sponsor of the Patman bill in the senate said:

"A canvass of the whole situation shows that 75 per cent of the members of congress are in favor of the Patman bill.

"We do not propose to compromise on this situation; we are convinced that if we passed a compromise bill at this session we would have to make too much of a sacrifice."

Thomas said there would be no changes in the Patman bill.

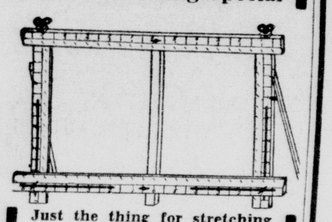

"We are going to leave the bill as it is," he said, "and pass the issue on to our constituents."

Temple Israel To Have Service On Thursday Evening

Festival Of Shabuoth Will Be Ushered In By Special Service

Temple Israel, Highland and Moody avenues, will usher in the Festival of Shabuoth ("Feast of Weeks") with a special service Thursday evening, June 6, at 8 o'clock, Rabbi Avery Jonah Grossfield officiating. Special festival melodies will be chanted during the service, and the rabbi will intone the traditional festival Kiddush. The topic of the sermon will be "The Universal Aspect of Judaism."

Festival Of Shabuoth

The Feast of Penticost, or Shabuoth was the Feast of the Early Harvest, and is regarded also as the anniversary of the giving of the law at Mt. Sinai. It will be celebrated by the Jewish people on Friday, June 7.

Originally an agricultural festival, Shabuoth was observed by bringing an offering of the first fruits and grains of the season to the temple in Jerusalem.

When the agricultural life of the Jews was ended by reason of their being driven out of the land, stress was laid upon the thought of the coincidence of Shabuoth with the time when the Ten Commandments were given at Sinai. Jewish folklore represents the law as given in the desert to imply that it belongs to all people, just as the desert is the possession of no one group or nation.

Within modern times another significance has been added to the Shabuoth festival. Because the Torah of old was given on this day, it has been made use of by the reform synagogue for the confirmation of its young people, who are consecrated to Judasim through an impressive ceremony held on this holiday. As Israel of old was prepared before it could receive the law, so each confirm and is trained in the history, doctrines, and ideals of Judasim in preparation for this ceremony.

The agricultural phase of the festival still remains in the custom of decorating home and synagogue with plants and flowers of the season, and in the reading, in addition to the Ten Commandments, of the story of Ruth because of its pastoral background.

Suffering From Stomach Trouble Was Relieved With The New Indo-Vin

MR. HERMAN FISCHER, of 2713 Pitler St., Pittsburgh, Pa., says: "My stomach was always upset and I was simply FULL of gas after my meals and so tight and stuffy with gas in my chest that I could hardly even BREATHE, and this gas even had its effect on my heart and the least little thing would exhaust me and take my breath away. I got Indo-Vin and will say that it is a REAL and GENUINE medicine for a person to take. It cleared the gas and bloating from my stomach organs and stopped that stuffy feeling in my chest and around my heart. I never get exhausted nor have that trouble with shortness of breath any more. I gladly endorse it to ALL WHO SUFFER." You can now get Indo-Vin at Eckerd's drug store, here in New Castle and from all good druggists throughout this whole section.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Although there seems to be no managerial prospects for Babe Ruth in the National or American league there is an opening in the North Florida circuit, Jeff Emerson of the Palatka Baseball club having asked Ruth if he would consider managing the club. It is not probable that Ruth will accept any offer from a minor league club.

Paris Cangie, former boxer and now a manager of amateur fighters, stated yesterday he plans to establish a training camp at Lakewood Beach this summer. He has several boxers under his management, among them Chuck Arkett who has a good record in the amateur ranks.

Blanton Again Tops Cardinals

Great "Dizzy" Dean Is Swatted Hard By Pittsburgh In 9-5 Defeat

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 5.—Fans today are wondering what has transformed Dizzy Dean, a 30-game winner with the Cardinals last year, into a 50-50, in and outer this year.

Ball players of rival clubs vary in their opinions of the Dizzy one. Some say he isn't as fast as he was; others think he has as much stuff as ever but has let fame go to his head; still others believe he is not keeping in such good condition as last year.

Be the reason what it may, the results as evidenced by the box scores, indicate he will have a difficult time reaching the 20-game mark at this current pace.

Blanton Wins

The Pirates fell on him for eight hits and nine runs in six heats yesterday. He walked four and was charged with the 9-5 defeat.

Cy Blanton went the route for the Pirates against Diz, and while not so hot himself, he had the satisfaction of hanging up his eighth victory and the distinction of stopping Pepper Martin who had hit safetly in 23 previous games. Joe Medwick made up for Pepper's impotent war club by banging out four straight hits.

Rain washed out the Giants, Phils, Braves and Dodgers but the weather man was unkind enough to let the Reds take a 10-2 lacing from the Cubs who operated smoothly behind Young Henshaw.

There were only two games in the American league. In one, was Ferrell of the Red Sox hooked up with Bump Hadley in a tight tossing duel and while each allowed nine hits, the Red Sox veteran kept his spread to better advantage and finished in front, 3 to 2.

The Browns surprised the White Sox by unleashing a barrage of base hits to rout Lefty Fischer and won, 11 to 1.

Dean-Medwick In Argument

"Dizzy" Objects To Remark By "Ducky-Wucky" Joe Medwick, Pirates Win

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 5—An "unwarranted display of temper" today resulted in a warning to Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, star hurler of the St. Louis Cardinals, that a similar outbreak would lead to a suspension and fine.

The warning was given by Frankie Frisch, Cardinal manager, following an argument among members of the team that led to a near-fist fight between Dean and Joe Medwick, outfielder, during yesterday's game between St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

A four-run attack by the Pirates in the third inning was reported to have caused some of the Cardinals to charge Dean with "laying down." When he retaliated with similar charges, the argument started. Players separted Dean and Medwick before any blows were struck.

Frisch said he would take no action in the matter, but asserted a repetition of the trouble would cost Dean a $5,000 fine and a suspension.

Asked to comment on the row between Dean and his teammates in the Cardinal dugout at Pittsburgh yesterday, Breadon declared:

Ruth Continues Heated Attack On Judge Fuchs

Ruth Claims That "Judge Fuchs Double-Crossed Me," Boston Owner Denies Charge

(International News Service)

BOSTON, June 5.—Babe Ruth, resigning from the Boston Braves and getting an unconditional release, shouted that he was "double-crossed" by Judge Emil E. Fuchs, president of the tribe.

Today Judge Fuchs was asked just what Ruth means by his "double-cross" charges. Judge Fuchs replied:

"I see absolutely no reason for Ruth making a statement that he was double-crossed. I don't think he has anything to base it on. In my 14 years with the Braves I have never received anything but letters of praise from the ball players and managers who have come and gone.

Disregarded Rules.

"On May 16th Bill Corum had an interview with Ruth in which Ruth said Boston newspapermen and Boston fans were down on him. Where he got that idea or whether he was trying to plead another alibi I don't know. I don't know whether you would call that double-crossing or not. I certainly had nothing to do with that.

"I sent a letter to Ruth Sunday morning and Manager Bill McKechnie's statement substantiates what I have said in the letter. Ruth should make public that letter.

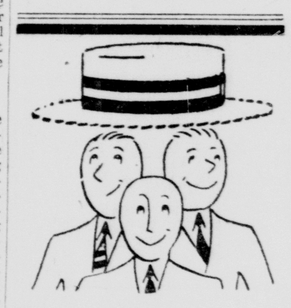

"Ruth disregarded every training rule and anything I did was to save baseball, the Braves and the good name of the National league.

"As for me not being able to pay Ruth's salary I could have paid his salary out of the exhibition games alone."

Golfers Await Tourney Start At Pittsburgh

Golf Stars Nervous On Eve Of National Open, Sarazen Is Favored

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa., June 5.—The lull before the storm today swept over Oakmont Country Club where 162 professional and amateur golfers, the best in the country, took their final workout before the National open championship starts tomorrow.

Sharing the spotlight with United States' veterans and promising youths were a Japanese team of six and Sid Brews of South Africa. Despite this international flavor, the title being defended by Olin Dutra of Monterey, Calif., was expected to remain in this country.

The difficult course, with its tricky greens and numerous sand traps, has convinced seasoned observers a veteran will win the crown. Moreover, the winning score for the par 72 course will be in the vicinity of 297.

Par Unblemished

For the past three days, old man par has remained unblemished. A few of the galaxy of stars have equalled it but the majority scored no better than 75. The greatest trouble has been experienced on the greens and on these a veteran's ability will be an important factor.

Players found the carpets slightly slower yesterday after a rain but they regained their lightning-like speed under a warm sun. Unless jupiter pluvius pays a return visit during the tourney, putting is likely to spoil the chances of many crown seekers. This is especially true in the case of the foreigners who have not had sufficient practice to become thoroughly familiar with the course.

In one respect, this tournament is an unique as any staged in recent years. On the day prior to the opening, there appears to be no heavy favorite. Prominent names are mentioned as possible winners but none has flashed the spectacular form to be selected as first choice.

Sarazen Favored

Some like the chances of Gene Sarazen. Others pin their hopes on Henry Picard, Hershey pro who was big money winner during the winter season. Also among the front rankers are Craig Wood, Leo Diegel, Harry Cooper, Willie McFarlane, Paul Runyan, the defending champion, Dutra, and Johnny Revolta.

Still, many a dark horse looms in the remaining field of 139 pros and amateurs. Given a certain amount of luck, they may blaze a trail of golf that will startle the large galleries expected at the hands of Hulton. The general opinion is that the course, especially the greens, and not the players will offer the greatest opposition.

Except for a few late arrivals, players concentrated today on experimental work. The greens and furrowed sand traps were scenes of the most activity. Generally, practices were brief because the majority sought rest before the long grind.

Volant Defeats Pulaski 6 To 1

Volant baseball team won from the Pulaski team 6 to 1 last night at the Pulaski field. The game was delayed by rain, but the boys managed to get it finished. Sontag and Grundy for Volant allowed the Pulaskians bu five hits.

Tenza pitching for Pulaski allowed nine hits. The feature hitters of the game were Bilger, Allen and Grundy for Volant. The Volant team is one of the best in the history of the town, and they will meet the Central A. C. of New Castle, Thursday evening and the Colonial A. C. of New Castle, Friday night at the Volant field, it was announced.

An African Golfer!

Sid Brews

Sid Brews is an "African golfer," but not in the slang sense as applying to dice. He is golf champion of South Africa, and is pictured here warming up on Long Island for the national open golf championship, June 6, at Pittsburgh.

Hits 70 at Oakmont

Roland McKenzie

Shooting a 70, two under par at Oakmont, in practice for the National Open golf tournament, June 6 to 8, Roland McKenzie, above, of Washington, D. C., had one of the best cards of the preliminary sessions.

Bahram Winner Of Epsom Derby

Horse Owned By Aga Kahn Wins 152nd Running Of Famous English Derby

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

EPSOM RACE COURSE, Eng., June 5.—Pouring more than a million dollars into the laps of seven lucky American sweepstakes ticketholders, the Aga Khan's Bahram, odds-on favorite, won the 152nd running of the Epsom Derby today.

Sir Abe Bailey's Robin Goodfellow was second.

Field trial, one of the favorites at post-time, finished third.

Bahram's victory was expected. For weeks he had been the most favored entry and the elimination of Lord Derby's Bobsleigh due to a training injury a week ago sent him to the post the shortest-priced favorite in years.

For the Aga Khan, the multi-millionaire Indian potentate and spiritual ruler of millions of Moslems, the race fulfilled almost all his expectations, although he had two other entries besides Bahram which were conceded excellent chances.

These were Hiran and Theft, but neither finished in the money.

Slovak A. C. Wins From Colonial A. C.

Slovaks Pound Linton To Showers And Also Bombard Shoaff

C. and was relieved by Shoaff in the second who also was bombarded. M. Mehalic and Zidow featured at bat and Grednick and J. McCann played good in the field.

Start Preliminary Work On Highway Route Changes

Perry Highway Relocation At Zelienople Now Appears As Likely

(Special To The News)

ZELIENOPLE, June 5.—Preliminary work on the relocation of the Perry highway, route 19, has begun in Zelienople. Men from the State Highway Department have been in Zelienople and for the past few days have been making test holes near the Connoquenessing creek to locate the foundation for the viaduct that will be built over the B. & O. railroad tracks and the Connoquenessing creek.

There will be 18 test holes drilled, and this is regarded as an assurance of the location of the highway. Large retaining walls will have to be built and a rock foundation is necessary. The holes have been drilled 32 feet by the machine and will be completed in a short time.

The viaduct will be a 400-foot one and will be from near St. Paul's Lutheran church property across on the Passavant farm, near the Zelienople reservoir. This location will not only be a shorter route, but will also take out many dangerous curves and corners in and near Harmony and Zelienople. Two miles out the Perry highway, above Harmony on the Stauffer farm, it will meet the present highway. The dangerous Harmony bridge will be eliminated by this new location.

Troop F Takes Up Routine Of Camp Schedule

First In Camp Although Local Unit Travels Longest Distance To Get There

PROMOTIONS ARE ANNOUNCED AT CAMP

By CORP. JACK B. BRYAN
Troop F 103rd Cavalry

COLEBROOK, Pa., June 5—Troop F 103rd Cavalry, with the greatest distance of any troop in the Regiment to travel, was the first one in camp. Clearing New Castle in a convoy of six "Army Pullmans" at 6:00 p. m., Friday, May 31, and arriving in Colebrook, at 6:30 a. m. the day following. The convoy was scheduled to be in Hollidaysburg by 12 midnight, but was there an hour before schedule. The convoy was safely and efficiently handled and the equipment was new.

Upon arrival the men were in good condition and the morale excellent in spite of a sleepless night and somewhat rough trip of twelve and one half hours. The usual duties of setting up camp were immediately begun. A detail being sent for horses which had just arrived from the 104th Cavalry and another to unload the equipment sent by freight. The camp was bustling with activity until taps, by which time the majority were definitely ready for bunk and blankets, however a few hardy individuals were around and about somewhat later.

A short shakedown ride on Sunday morning followed by cleaning of equipment started the day. The men were assigned horses and the first pass-by held in the evening.

The weather has been excellent although rain seems imminent at the moment. The days have been warm and the nights cool, as expected. The entire Troop is in excellent health and the indications point to a very good encampment.

The new men of the organization have shown that they can take it, and with the snap and interest they have displayed it is apparent that they will be definitely out of the "Rookie" class long before camp is over. The older men have even agreed to almost forget such naive requests for "Tent-lifters," "Chevron polish," "Bivouac tickets" and "Single-Pronged Rifle Tongs."

Three promotions were made within the unit, Corp. Raymond F. Atkinson to Sergeant; Private First Class, Henry W. Robinson to Stable Sergeant and Private Harvey K. Pollock to Corporal.

On Monday, June 3rd, the morning was spent in close and extended order drill, followed by a road march with stripped saddles. The afternoon was spent with officers and non-commissioned officers in school on subjects of road marches and discipline, while the troop cleaned equipment under the direction of 1st. Sergeant Measel. A dismounted Regimental Review was held in the evening.

The troop has 60 enlisted men in camp, one will return from furlough which will bring the strength to 61. This is four below the authorized strength but 1st Lt. George F. Mitchell, the commanding officer, is confident that the performance of the men in camp will make up for this slight deficiency.

A road march under war conditions is scheduled for Tuesday, June 4th.

Stock Market Is Irregular

Strength In Utilities, Rails And Amusement Shares Keeps Market Alive

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 5.—The stock market turned irregular today.

Strength in utilities, rails, amusement shares and some of the blue chip industrials gave an appearance of firmness. However, steels, motors, farm shares and the mining division were easier.

The Toledo Power strike involving a virtual industrial shutdown in that city had no important repercussions.

Commodities were erratic. Cotton slumped a dollar a bale after yesterday's break. Silver reversed the weakness of the previous day. Grains were easier. Bonds showed a generally firm tone.

There was no new explanation for the fresh rise in the utilities, which saw Consolidated Gas active and higher and some issues at new highs for the year.

Rails were in somewhat better demand on rebirth of hopes for legislation as a long session of congress was forecast. Union Pacific rose a point.

U. S. Smelting tumbled 2 points and unsettled the other silvers. Coppers were inclined to sag. Gold shares were quiet.

Steels were inclined to sag from the start, as were the motors but losses were fractional. Farm implement and mail order shares gave ground slightly. Oils had flashes of strength but gains were unimportant. Phillip Morris was buoyant in the tobaccos.

AN OPPORTUNITY LOST . . .

Here is a customer who certainly isn't a Scotchman! In 1934 (April) he used 104 KWH of electricity and paid $4.92 for them . . . This April (1935) he used exactly the same amount, 104 KWH, and paid but $4.67 . . . BUT he could have used 29 more KWH and not paid a single penny more . . . Why, he could have burned 4 more 60 watt lamps four hours a day for the entire month FREE . . . OR, he could have made the coffee, toasted his bread, cooked the morning eggs, operated a food mixer, and run his radio without cost . . . he could have very nearly operated an Electric Refrigerator for nothing . . . Anyway, he lost the opportunity of getting something for nothing this April—29 FREE KWH of Electricity.

Another Actual Case of how the New Electric Rate Applies.
